Conversation Starters. Ask your financial professional—

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

Item 3.A Fees, Costs, Conflicts, and Standard of Conduct

What fees will I pay?

M.D. Sass charges its retail clients an investment management fee that is based on the value of each client account’s assets under management. Fees are negotiable and generally range between 0.25% and 0.90% annually, depending on the size and complexity of the account. Fees are generally charged quarterly in advance, based on account values at the start of each quarter. The compensation that we earn generally increases as client accounts grow, so we have an incentive to encourage our clients to increase the amount of assets in the accounts that are under our management. Eligible retail clients may also agree to pay M.D. Sass a performance- based fee. Additional information about our firm’s fees is included in Item 5 of Part 2 of Form ADV, available here. In addition to M.D. Sass’s management fee, clients bear transaction fees or commissions to the brokers that we buy or sell securities. Clients may also pay fees (“custody” fees) to their custodian. Our firm may select and purchase mutual funds and exchange traded funds for a portion of clients’ portfolios. Such funds have their own management, transaction, and administrative fees and expenses, and those fees and expenses are indirectly borne by the investors in those funds, including M.D. Sass's clients that may hold those funds.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

Conversation Starter. Ask your financial professional—

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

Item 3.B Fees, Costs, Conflicts, and Standard of Conduct

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we must act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice, we provide to you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

- We manage accounts for multiple clients, and we allocate our time based on each client's needs. Our firm earns more as we expand our client base and grow our assets under management, and we seek to balance our staffing with the individualized needs of each client.
- Some of the broker-dealers that we trade with allocate a portion of the commissions that our clients pay to be used by us to pay for research. These "soft dollar" arrangements help our firm make investment decisions, but they can have the effect of increasing clients' transaction costs.

Conversation Starter. Ask your financial professional—

- How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

More Additional information about conflicts of interest between M.D. Sass and its clients is available on Part 2 of our Form ADV, here.

How do your financial professionals make money?

M.D. Sass's financial professionals receive a salary and may receive a discretionary bonus. Compensation is set with the intention of attracting and retaining highly qualified professionals. Compensation is based on a variety of factors, including the number, value, and complexity of accounts under management, the performance of those accounts, and client satisfaction and retention.
